EXPERIENCES (Cont.)

Director, Global Brand Strategy and Product Marketing
GoDaddy | Sunnyvale, California, 2015.11 – 2021.12

Oversaw brand portfolio strategy, product marketing operations, and GTM planning for multi-billion dollar subscription platform serving 20M+ customers globally.

Brand Portfolio & Strategic Planning:

- Architected GoDaddy's first brand portfolio strategy and sub-brand framework, including M&A integration methodology for 60+ acquired brands - establishing strategic positioning, competitive narratives, category ambitions, and go-to-market guidelines across the portfolio.
- Served as strategic thought partner to Product and Executive leadership, building business cases and strategic recommendations on customer segmentation, portfolio architecture, pricing strategy, and market expansion - translating market and competitive insights into commercial strategy that informed investment priorities.
- Developed and led brand measurement and insights framework ($15M annual budget), including persona development, creative testing, market research programs, and advertising ROI modeling that enabled data-driven decision-making and transformed brand positioning from "utility" to "iconic" through disciplined execution.
- Established operational foundations for brand performance, including KPIs, dashboards, business review cadences, and performance reporting that elevated strategic discussions with C-suite stakeholders.

Product Marketing Leadership:

- Led product marketing team orchestrating full-spectrum GTM campaigns across domain, hosting, and web products targeting SMB, enterprise, and developer segments - driving 25% revenue growth and 150%+ net customer growth YoY through strategic positioning, launch orchestration, and messaging development.
- Owned end-to-end launch strategy and execution for major product releases, coordinating cross-functional teams across Product, Marketing, Sales, and Customer Experience to ensure commercial readiness and market adoption.
- Developed segment-specific value propositions and messaging frameworks for diverse audiences (SMBs, domain investors, developers, designers), ensuring portfolio offerings resonated with target customers and drove conversion and retention.
